

Society Events of the Week.

The coming week promises to be rather giddy with lots of home and informal affairs, and the Assembly (remodeled) on the 22nd. Then there is the Holmes dinner-dance on the 26th, and the officers' German New Year's eve, with much doing New Year's day, and withall we can worry through the holidays.

The largest event of the week was the luncheon given at the Knutsford on Monday by Mrs. Perry S. Heath, to thirty-six of her friends. The luncheon was served in the green ordinary, and in the adjoining room, an orchestra played during the afternoon.

The luncheon was pink and green and the elaborate unique effects in these pretty tints were the subject of much comment.

The green and white dinner given Monday evening at the Commercial club by Mr. Samuel Newhouse was one of the cleverest dinners of the season. The decorations were in white carnations and smilax, and covers were laid for sixteen. A unique feature of the affair was the dinner card with the menu, and personal reference to each guest under the different courses.

The prettiest event of the week was the luncheon given on Thursday by Mrs. Charles Walker in honor of Mrs. George Raymond Walker, which took place in the ladies dining-room at the Commercial club. The room was a bower of beauty in red and green, holly being used in profusion. The room was darkened and lighted by red shaded lights and red candles were distributed along the table, which was decorated in holly with glistening cotton snowballs, here and there.

Tiny French statuettes stood prettily in front of each guest, and later accompanied them home as souvenirs. Twenty-eight guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Walker have issued invitations for dinner on the 22nd, and a dancing party on the 27th.

Col. and Mrs. Holmes have issued invitations for a dinner dance to be given the evening of the 26th, and over a hundred guests have been invited. The dinner will be at 7 o'clock, followed by dancing, and the affair promises to be the most elaborate of the holiday season.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bancroft entertained at dinner on Tuesday evening. The Christmas colors of green and red made the table beautiful, and covers were laid for eight. Those present were Gov. and Mrs. Wells, Col. and Mrs. Clayton, the Misses Nason, Mr. Burleigh, Mr. Schumacher and Chester Nason.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Caine entertained on Wednesday evening in honor of Capt. and Mrs.

Guy Palmer, at a most delightful card party. Sixty-three was the game, and about sixty guests were present. The decorations of holly and ivy, with red satin ribbons were exquisite, and the whole affair was charming.

Judge and Mrs. O. W. Powers entertained at an elegant dinner Tuesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Baker of Everett, Wash. Covers were laid for ten.

Another decided social success was the musicale at the Commercial club on Wednesday evening.

Miss Emily Read is at home at 474 East South Temple street.

Mrs. Fred Simon entertained the Whist club Tuesday evening.

One of the pleasantest events of the week was the luncheon given by Mrs. H. W. Doscher on Tuesday. The decorations were suggestive of the holidays in their effects of red and green, and the place cards were finished in sprays of holly. Covers were laid for sixteen.

Messrs. Mark McChrystal, Ernest Sadler and Wesley Evans have issued invitations to a dancing party at the Ladies' Literary club New Year's night. It promises to be one of the swellest holiday affairs for the younger set.

Mrs. H. V. Croll entertained at cards on Wednesday.

Miss Evelyn Thomas has gone to Boise.

Mr. and Mrs. Channing gave a delightful supper Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sharp are here for the holidays. They are with Mr. and Mrs. Harkness.

Mrs. Jacob Bamberger has gone East.

Miss Edyth Ellerbeck entertained at cards on Tuesday.

Mrs. Glosz entertained at luncheon on Wednesday.

Judge Miner and daughter, Mrs. McClure have returned from San Francisco.

Col. and Mrs. Holmes gave a delightful dinner Tuesday evening. American Beauties were the decorations.

The Perfume of Tobacco

Is a happy home maker if the tobacco has a perfume. The good tobacco sold by The Stickney Cigar Co., is delightful in its fragrant aroma. That ought to be an inducement for the woman who buys cigars for a Christmas present.

A Little Brown Jug

Of that old Saratoga Whisky would look awfully good to that friend of yours who has done those little favors for you during the year. It is warmer than anything else on a cold night because it touches the cold spot. Rieger & Lindley sell it.
